FASEOS provide professional operating services for early-stage technology companies.

Why FASEOS Services?

- In today's fast-paced business environment, CEOs, entrepreneurs and business owners need to focus their efforts on growing their businesses and concentrate on R&D and protecting the fundamental core competencies.
- FASEOS is an Israeli based firm, specializing in early stage High-Tech, providing top quality outsourced operation activities.
- Specialization in the High-Tech Industry gives us a key competitive advantage. It sharpens our focus and results in greater understanding and in-depth knowledge that serves our clients well. We draw on our experience when evaluating your needs.

Service advantages:

- A Senior Operating Executives team with compound experience of 60 years in field of operating management and services.
- Combining knowledge in technology, engineering, quality, operations and management.
- Combining knowledge from a variety of industries.
- Optimizing schedule and operations management by professional flexible resources.

Why we need Operations in the early-stage?

- Operational process and procedures are the foundations to a solid company with strong delivery capabilities.
- Any wrong definition of product, production or logistics strategy in early stage will have high-cost effect in the mature stage.
- Non-conforming to standards and regulations can be sales stopper.
- Lack of Quality Assurance processes can cause high damage to the company reputation.
- Wrong costing or budgeting can be a risk to the company financing.
- Implement Information Systems and KPI's in the early stage is much easy then in later stages.
- Process, procedures and reports will be very helpful in any Due diligence or audit.

Why outsource operations activities?

- Outsourced operations allow companies to increase their operations efficiency, flexibility and competitive advantage while lowering costs and risks.
- Outsourced operations utilize a professional and verified team, in order to complement the needs of each company.
- Outsourced operations concentrate in the operations activities, freeing up valuable management time for critical business activities.
